"Advocating the public ownership of utilities is probably the greatest field for the poo-bah politicians," says the San Jose Evening News. "And yet, when it is analyzed, such a move would be a calamity because it would serve to defeat the very ideals upon which America is founded.

"To begin with, utilities are already practically in the hands of the public. Any man or woman who has saved a few dollars can buy part of practically any utility company in existence.

"However, the real danger of so-called public ownership of a utility lies in the fact that office-holders could easily perpetuate their control by having the added thousands of utility workers on the public payroll.

"This is demonstrated very clearly in California where the countless thousands who are working in the various state departments give a wide margin to incumbents in any election. Add to this tremendous force the thousands of utility workers and it would not

April Busy Month for Carmel Woman's Club

The Garden Section had its first meeting for the month on April 4th at the home of Mrs. I. N. Ford, Eleventh and Junipero. The speaker was Mrs. Morris K. Wild, who gave a talk based on Louise Beebe Wilder's delightful book, "The Fragrant Path." All our old favorites are herein classified among the list of shrubs, perennials, and annuals, not leaving out the bulb family. Among the oldest shrubs to be brought to this country by the Pilgrim Fathers was the syring. The purple and white lilac, ingia, beloved by them for its sweet the old-fashioned Glove Pink, the Lily-of-the-Valley, the Lavender, Heliotrope, the Magnolia trees of the South, the Peonies that grew so marvelously in the old New England gardens, Violets, Jasmine, spicy wall-flowers, and Wisteria were especially mentioned by the speaker. The Rose family, especially the deep red roses which are more highly scented than the paler sisters, the lily family with its wealth of delightful perfume, Iris, Daffodils, Hyacinths, Tulips, and many others too numerous to mention were cited. Mrs. Wild gave long lists of sweet-scented annuals, perennials and shrubs, whose perfume are a great asset to our gardens.

Section meetings for the second week in April will be as follows: The Bridge Section will have its first meeting for the month on Monday, April 8, at 2:00 p. m. at the Girl Scout House. Tea will be served, as usual, after the game.

The Current Events Section will meet on Wednesday, April 10, at 10 a. m. at the Girl Scout House. Mrs. Mabel Turner will give a short talk describing her trip of inspection to the new Bay Bridge. Also, Mrs. Simpson will give a talk about "Pirandello," and other recent plays. Following this, Dr. Benton will lead a discussion on "America's attitude toward peace."

GERTRUDE SNUBS CARMEL

Gertrude Stein, acknowledged freak of the present-day literary world, visited the Peninsula during the past week, but did not deign to visit Carmel, declaring that she was not interested in art colonies, and to make the snub the more cutting, when she arrived in San Francisco, in an interview with a Chronicle reporter, again spoke disparagingly of our community. Said the Chronicle:

"The tall gray-haired woman yesterday administered a smashing rebuke to the art village at Carmel by refusing to set her foot on its one paved street and declining to meet its Lincoln Steffens, Robinson Jeffers or Mabel Dodge Luhan.

"She made an exception of Harry Leon Wilson, terming him one of 'our most refreshing authors,' and visiting him at his Carmel Highlands home."

ORATORIO TO BE GIVEN ON GOOD FRIDAY

Fenton Foster will present the community choral group and the symphony orchestra in the Dubois oratorio, "The Seven Last Words of Christ" on Good Friday evening at the Methodist church in Pacific Grove. Rehearsals have been held for the past six weeks and an unusually fine rendition is expected. Soloists will be Beatrice Harris, soprano; Andrew Sessink, tenor; and Gordon Knoles, baritone.

PACIFIC GROVE MAN PICKS

POOR PARKING PLACE

The next time Wendell Philipps of Pacific Grove, looks about for a parking place in Carmel, he is going to be very selective. Friday, April 5, he wasn't so careful and left his car in the police reserve space on Dolores. He will appear tomorrow to tell Judge Wood about it.

Lillian R. Kolster of Palo Alto appeared today to answer for parking on the sidewalk on April 4. She got off with a $2 fine, for, after all, she had always supposed that Carmel didn't believe in sidewalks

Other traffic offenders of the past week include R. E. Linsey, of Los Angeles, who was fined $5 for speeding through a school zone; F. L. Tuttle, of Monterey, who will appear tomorrow for speeding through intersections; Bernard Morris, of Burlingame, due Thursday for speeding on April 6; and R. W. Shepherd, of King City, who will appear April 13 to answer for speeding through a school zone on April 8.

GENEROUS RAINFALL

The Peninsula to date has double the rainfall on the average than it had last season to date. The torrential rains over the week-end and not yet fully abated, brought Carmel a full quota, but as far as can be learned, no damage resulted. The benefit to the valley and the grazing lands has been immense, however.

The record for Carmel up to Monday night was 23.88 inches, and the amount up to this date last year 11.13. During the week-end in excess of 2 1/4 inches were recorded.

Carmel Valley now has 19.81 inches, against 9.90 inches last year to date.

REALTY BOARD LUNCHEON HELD AT PINE INN

The regular monthly meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Realty Board was held yesterday noon at Pine Inn with 11 members and five guests attending. The board went on record as opposing senate bill 323 and assembly bill 807. Through these bills Governor Frank Merriam seeks the unification of all county and state highways under the State Department of Public Works. The board feels that this would be a mistake, inasmuch as the county supervisors would be deprived of any jurisdiction over county roads and the purported saving of $16,000,000 in taxes would be doubtful.

RED CROSS CHAPTER FINDS NEW QUARTERS

The Carmel chapter of the American Red Cross was in the throes of moving day yesterday. They were offered a new home in the old postoffice building, after their former quarters on Dolores and Seventh were rented.

Carmel Observes Public Schools Week

Carmel's recognition of the sixteenth annual national observance of Public School Week will be inaugurated tonight with a public program in the auditorium of Sunset School. The program will feature orchestral and vocal selections, as well as acrobatic stunts and folk dancing. Classrooms will be open at the close of the program and the public is urged to visit the room exhibits as well as the art and shop exhibits in the lunchroom and the wild flower display in the classroom north of the auditorium.

Special visiting days this week are Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Student monitors will greet the visitors, act as guides and see that each guest signs the register.

A baseball game between the Bay View and Sunset nines has been scheduled for Thursday at 4:00 p. m. The last event of the week will be a student body meeting to be held at 11:20 a. m., Friday, April 12th.

NEW MAIL SCHEDULE FOR CARMEL

The recent change in train schedules at Monterey has affected the mail service in Carmel. Acting Postmaster Irene Cator has announced the following schedule.

Mails close at 5:50 a. m., for first class and parcel post going north and south. Mail arrives in San Francisco at 12:10 p. m. and in Los Angeles at 8:45 p. m.

Mails close at 12:15 p. m. for first class and parcel post going north and east, arriving in San Francisco at 5:30 p. m.

Mails close at 5:15 p. m. for first class mail going north and south and parcel post going south, arriving in San Francisco at 10:45 p. m., and Los Angeles at 9:00 a. m.

VALENTINE PORTER IN

RADCLIFF COLLEGE PLAY

Word has been received that Miss Valentine Mott Porter of Carmel, is to take the leading masculine role in the freshman play at Radcliff College this spring. Miss Porter will play the part of Nicholas in "She Passed Through Lorraine" by Hale.

Dr. and Mrs. George McClure of Oakland arrived Monday to spend three weeks in Carmel.

Carmel Valley

Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Boisot have moved to their Carmel Valley home where they will remain through the summer.

The rodeo which was to have been held at the San Clemente Dam last Sunday was postponed on account of rain. It will be held next Sunday if the weather permits.

Mr. and Mrs. Ora Vasquez had as dinner guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lang and daughter, Margaret, Mr. Jack Eckert of Pacific Grove, Mr. Mark Wilmot and Miss Phyllis Meadows.

The week-end proved to be rather a wet one for the peninsula as a whole. The valley got its share of rain. The river is up quite a little and everything in general is well soaked.

END VISIT IN CARMEL

After spending the week-end in San Francisco, Mrs. A. G. Reynolds and her house guests, Miss Harriet Robeson, and Mr. Ralph Linsley, left today for southern California. Mrs. Reynolds and her friends have been occupying her home in Carmel Highlands for the past few weeks.

Long before an election would be a mere formality."

The danger the Evening News points to is of very real significance. A number of European countries which have adopted state ownership and control of industry provide excellent examples of the results—where corrupt, inefficient and wasteful governments are kept in power principally because they control the public purse strings. As Al Smith said in another connection, "No one is going to shoot Santa Claus"—and the worker who knows that his job depends upon maintaining so-and-so in public office will certainly not be a free agent when it comes to voting.

Many competent observers have said that one of the worst effects of extending governmental operations, even within legitimate government fields, is that a mounting number of voters are added to the strength of whatever state or national administration gives them their positions. Think how much worse this situation would be, once government became the employer of thousands of men and women who are now working for private utilities.

Home Owned Business and the Public Schools

Associating the problems of the public schools with those of Independent Merchants, a joint conference of school teachers and merchants will be held in Watsonville next Thursday, April 11, under the direction of Vierling Kersey, superintendent of public instruction for the State of California, and Albert Walters, manager of Allied Independent Merchants and Home-Owned Businesses of California, Inc. The conference will be held in the high school at 8:00 p. m. Besides independent merchants and those connected with the public schools, the general public is invited.

The conference will be addressed by both Kersey and Walters. Kersey will discuss the problems of the public school in so far as they affect the best interests of the community. Walters will explain that his organization, representing independent home-owned merchants, is equally interested in the development and betterment of the communities in which these businesses exist and upon which they depend for their existence.

Independent Merchants and public school teachers from the following territory are being invited to attend this joint conference, which is the first of several scheduled to be held at other points in the near future: Watsonville, Santa Cruz, Salinas, Monterey, Pacific Grove and Carmel.

CHAT

By Bob

Those legislators (tax seekers) when they return to Sacramento in March, intend to introduce over 100 fish and game bills. It is said one of the bills will require that everyone who fishes from the shore procure a license. The bill will also limit possession of fish. Wonder if the big fish trust sponsored that bill? Who said anything about the freedom of the seas?

Hojack — Dingus' wife must be very old—don't you think so?

Stingo—I should say she is old! Why, man, the other night when she was having a party to celebrate her birthday, there were so many candles on the cake that six of the guests fainted with the heat—and then she'd left half the candles off.—The Pathfinder.

The aroma factories from Dorton boulevard north, in Monterey, are disappointed in Governor Merriam's appointment of a Dr. E. C. Moore of Los Angeles to the membership of the state fish and game commission. Dr. Moore says, "floating sardine reduction plants should be curtailed, because they operate outside state jurisdiction; but failed to state how it could be done. The peninsula hotels would like the Monterey ead de sardine perfume reduction plants to do their manufacturing along with the floating plants—outside of Monterey's jurisdiction.

The freedom of the press is a lot of ROT. What the publishers that squawk so much mean, when they set up a hue and cry that the freedom of the press is being suppressed, is that the FREE LICENSE of the press to distort the news and give voice to the personal opinion of the publisher is being questioned. At the present day very little credence can be placed in the news as set forth in some papers. A newspaper that is honest and prints the news as it finds it seldom gets the support as it should. There are very few truthful newspapers. The majority of the big ones are subsidized to print articles sent out by Big Business and Chambers of Commerce. No reliance can be placed in what appears in their columns.

A passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included, which reads as follows: "The relinquishment of all faith in death and also of the fear of its sting would raise the standard of health and morals far beyond its present elevation, and would enable us to hold the banner of Christianity aloft with unflinching faith in God, in Life eternal. Sin brought death, and death will disappear with the disappearance of sin" (p. 426).

Self Education Necessary, In Care of the Feet

The following article is the first of a series by Gustaf S. Gillberg, of San Francisco, inventor of the revolutionary Gillberg method of foot correction. Mr. Gillberg has made a life-long study of the care of the feet and is now director of the Gillberg Institute at 240 Stockton street, San Francisco.

Foot troubles are the most prevalent of all human ailments in our modern civilization. Feet are still vitally important to us in spite of our increased dependence on motor transportation. Painful feet go hand in hand,—or, one might say, —foot in hand, with painful dispositions as well as more physical discomforts. They are not only an uncomfortable reality in themselves, but they are a warning of more serious ills which may result from the complete disregard of the true line of gravity disturbed by bad posture.

The one bright spot in this dreary picture is the fact that a little self-education on the subject of feet and posture can soon correct most foot trouble. It is possible for each person to diagnose his own case. If a foot is anatomically correct in shape, the outer edge from the small toe to the heel should be convex and the inner edge from the great toe to the heel should be concave. Few adults have retained this perfect outline. Fortunately, it may be regained by a study of the cause and cure of the mal-alignment.

Public Enemy No. 1 in the case of foot trouble is bad posture. Slouchy, incorrect posture results in the disappearance of the anatomical, forward curve in the small of the back, thus tilting the pelvis and affecting the proper functioning of the hip joints. This has a direct bearing on the ankle joint, disturbs the direction of the line of gravity and distributes the load of the body to the inside of the foot, instead of to the outside, weight-bearing margin. When it is considered the thousands of pounds of weight that are transported daily by the foot, with its delicate bones, it is not hard to realize how serious this habitual wrong distribution of weight may be.

The first corrective step for one who has become foot-conscious is a study of constructive and destructive foot and posture habits. Next, the correct shoe must be secured in order that any application of foot education may be effective. To follow the proper anatomical curve of a perfect foot, a shoe should have a swing in the shank,—an inward flare. The shoe clerk will seldom sell this type of shoe without a struggle.

Consider the position of the average shoe clerk. He is there to serve the public, but only insofar as he may do so and at the same time serve the best interests of his employer. The customer presents himself with the request for a comfortable shoe. To be comfortable, immediately, a shoe must fit the foot as it is, whether that shape is correct or so out of alignment that it is practically deformed. If the salesman is orthopedically educated, his conscience will cause him to give the customer a shoe that is corrective, but not at present comfortable. If he sells a shoe that is immediately comfortable, it will be detrimental to the welfare of the purchaser. What happens if the clerk insists on selling the corrective shoe? Eternal gratitude on the part of the customer? Not at all. He will be dissatisfied with the discomfort entailed in foot correction, blame the shoe clerk for a poor fitting and take his trade elsewhere. A few such correct, but unpopular fittings will result in harm to the business of the employer and the conscientious shoe clerk will find himself looking for a new job.

Up to the present time, neither the members of the medical profession, nor the chiropodists, have found a method for correcting mal-alignment, except through casts, various types of foot supports, and operations.

Fixations of any sort usually prove more harmful than remedial. Confinement in a cast, or assistance by artificial supports degenerates the muscles, as well as causing the nerves and other tissues to become congested and inflamed. It is fundamentally wrong to deprive a joint of its mobility. It is easily seen that this would be true of the joints of the foot, as well as of other parts of the body.

Results from operations are equally bad. The transplanting of ligaments, muscles, et cetera, particularly for the relief of bunions, can only bring dire consequences to the patient, if there is no real correction of alignment.

Foot education must be made accessible to the public if any real benefit is to accrue. Hygienic care of the skin and teeth is regularly incorporated in the school curriculum; the hygiene of posture is also taught to some extent; but the hygiene of the foot, not at all. The public must demand it.

SAVINGS from Half-Price Electricity

TO PAY FOR NEW ELECTRIC RANGE
Says MRS. IRWIN BEATTIE
of Elverta, Sacramento County

Among the first to take advantage of the DW electric rate for ranges and water heaters, were Mr. and Mrs. I. Beattie. Now the discounts each month from ½ OFF EXTRA Electricity will be used to pay for an up-to-the-minute 1935 electric range.

"I HAVE BEEN a user of electricity on your DW 3 schedule since the latter part of 1934, when I installed an automatic storage heater with a demand control switch.

"As a result of your ONE-HALF OFF offer in 1935, the discount for increased use of electricity has given me very considerable savings as compared with what I feel would ordinarily represent a fair charge for the rather extensive enjoyment of electricity in my home. This use includes cooking, water heating, refrigeration, auxiliary air heating, and sundry labor-saving devices.

"I am applying this saving toward the purchase of a new electric range to replace the old one which served us so well for a number of years but is now becoming obsolete. I believe that the discounts obtained from your Half-Price electricity this year will, to a large extent, defray the cost of the replacement range."

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF BARGAIN PRICE ELECTRICITY
½ OFF EXTRA Electricity means: When your electric bill in any month of 1935 is greater than your bill for the corresponding month of 1934, at same location, YOU GET A 50% DISCOUNT ON THE DIFFERENCE.
